LTHE Earns 2nd Spot in Top EPC Contractors List in Middle East

n-Paraffin & Derivative Complex for Farabi Petrochemical Company, Yanbu, KSA.

L&T Hydrocarbon Engineering (LTHE) has been ranked among the top EPC Contractors in the Middle East by Oil & Gas Middle East, a leading online publication focused on the upstream oil and gas industry in the region.

The prestigious list featuring 30 of the best EPC firms operating in the Middle East, placed LTHE at No. 2 behind Abu Dhabi based NPCC. In a market teeming with stiff international competition, the company edged out a number of its global peers operating in the region.

Alluding to LTHE's continued dominance in the Middle East market, the publication hailed it as "a powerhouse in the region with a clear pipeline into future projects". Its editors noted that while 2020 might have been a bit sluggish in terms of contract wins, it was only a matter of time before they saw more activity from LTHE in the market.

LTHE has been serving the hydrocarbon sector since the early 1990s with a track record that includes successful completion of several challenging projects for domestic as well as international clients.
